CARLI Book Digitization Initiative
Eastern Illinois University Project Proposal
Attachment 1

Full Proposal Title:

Exploring Illinois History and Education: Celebrating Original Scholarship in Illinois Culture and Heritage by Digitizing Selected Eastern Illinois University Graduate Student Theses on Illinois Related Topics

Description of Materials to be Digitized:

From among the many Eastern Illinois University theses in Booth Library's collection, we seek help from CARLI's Book Digitization Initiative to digitize a select group of 53 titles dealing in some way with the culture or heritage of Illinois. Unique to our library collection, these items were written by graduate students at Eastern as part of their degree programs; and they represent, in many cases, their authors' first significant attempts to make important contributions to their respective fields of study. Thesis authors utilized several different data collection methods, including historical research, surveys and field studies, to generate important new information on a variety of interesting topics. The materials meet the physical requirements by being a uniform 8 ½" X 11" size, single sided typescripts, bound in a standard library binding.

How Does the Proposal Address the Theme?

The titles chosen for our proposed project represent a wide variety of Illinois-related subjects in many disciplines, including politics, history, biography, education, agriculture, sociology, home economics, communications, athletics and music, to name a few. Some of the theses chosen deal with large issues, but most take a rather small slice out of the pie. Some even deal exclusively with one institution, historical event or personage. Nevertheless, whether broad-based or concentrated in focus, the selected titles illuminate important aspects of the life and culture of Illinois. Digitizing these titles and making them more easily accessible to the public would contribute significantly, we feel, to a better understanding of the culture and heritage of the state of Illinois.
