Meetings:

The Preservation Committee met 6 times during FY 2014:

2 in-person meetings – August 2, 2013 (CARLI Office), April 16, 2014 (Milner Library, Illinois State University)
4 conference calls – October 2 and December 5, 2013; February 24 and June 11, 2014

The major topics discussed at these meetings included: planning webinars for Fall 2013 and Spring 2014, selecting information to include in a white paper about resources for preservation training, and submitting articles and other information about preservation to the CARLI newsletter, blog, and website.

Activities:

- Maintained the Preservation Webliography on the CARLI website – links to websites about preservation topics
- Submitted the following Preservation Tips for the CARLI Newsletter:
  - “Shelving Commandments” – July 2013
  - “The Challenge of AV Preservation and Access” – September 2013
  - “Creating a Disaster Plan: How to get started using the dPlan” – October 2013
“Disaster Preparedness and Developing Relationships with Local Emergency Responders” – December 2013

“Emergency Supply Cart” – January 2014

Deodorizing article – May 2014, forthcoming, possibly submitted as a blog

- Submitted a series of blog entries featuring YouTube preservation videos:
  “Training Students” – Fall 2013
  “Library Disasters” – Spring 2014, forthcoming
  “Book Repair/Binding” – Summer 2014, forthcoming

- Hosted the following webinars:
  “Collection Assessment for Preservation Purposes”, held on October 8, 2013 – three presenters shared their insight on different assessment models used to assess preservation needs in preparation for preservation projects and/or grant applications to fund those projects.
  “Pests of the Midwest and Environmental Monitoring”, to be held on June 17, 2014 – four presenters, using case studies from their own experiences and institutions, will discuss environmental monitoring devices and methods, identification of library pests, and application of an Integrated Pest Management program.

- Developed white paper:
  Identifying useful web resources for training in digital and physical artifact preservation; outlining outreach activities to improve access to such training, especially to institutions with few resources for preservation of their collections.

Future activities:

- Because of the popularity of past Burn Recovery workshops, the committee will plan another workshop at the Illinois Fire Services Institute, tentatively scheduled for Spring 2015.

- The committee will continue submitting Preservation Tips articles, blog entries on preservation topics, and maintain the Preservation Webliography.

- Discussion of the white paper topic has suggested a number of outreach activities that the committee can undertake to improve access to preservation training and information, especially to libraries with limited resources, including: distributing informational pamphlets on preservation topics, developing a preservation training curriculum for CARLI member institutions to use and to share with organizations in their communities, continuing to plan/sponsor webinars on preservation topics, as an economical way to reach a wide audience.
