Start off with Preferred Names

Vocabulary associated with Preferred Name(s) in RDA

- Name: Word, character, or group of words and/or characters by which a person is known
- Preferred Name: Form to be used when constructing the authorized access point in bibliographic records and IXX field of name authority records
- Variant Name: Form used in variant access points (4XX fields in name authority records)

More Vocabulary for Preferred Names in RDA

- Access Point: Name, term, code, etc., representing a specific person
- Authorized Access Point: Standardized access point representing an entity; uses the preferred name for the person
- Variant Access Point: Alternative to the authorized access point representing an entity; constructed using a variant name for that person

Preferred Form of Name

- Choose the form most commonly known
- Variant spellings: choose the form found in the first resource received
- For names containing a surname, include words, etc., indicating relationships (e.g., Jr., Sr., IV) -- not just to differentiate
  - Marc: encode the term in the 100 $c
- Retain hyphens between forename and surname
- Insert space after full stop following initials

More info: Preferred Names

- Form to be used when constructing the authorized access point in bibliographic records
- Choose the form most commonly known
- Variant spellings: choose the form found on the first resource received
- If an individual has more than one identity, choose the name associated with each identity as the preferred name for that identity.
- If an individual uses one or more pseudonyms (including joint pseudonyms), consider the individual to have more than one identity.
- If an individual uses his or her real name as well as one or more pseudonyms, consider the individual to have more than one identity.

RDA now records a number of “attributes” of a person

- Name of the person
- Date associated with the person
- Title of the person
- Fuller form of name
- Other designation associated with the person
- Gender
- Place of birth
- Place of death
- Country associated with the person
- Place of residence
- Address of the person
- Affiliation
- Language of the person
- Field of activity of the person
- Profession or occupation
- Biographical information
- Identifier for the person

Preferred Title:

Preferred Title:

- RDA defines the preferred title as: the title or form of title chosen to identify the work. The preferred title is also the basis for the authorized access point representing that work.
- When we record a title in the 245 field we are recording the title of the manifestation and we transcribe it exactly as it appears on the piece.
- However, there are times when we also need to record the title differently either to help the patron find a particular work or to distinguish a particular work from other works by the same name.
- For example, how many titles have been used on books of Mother Goose rhymes?

More Preferred Title = Uniform Title

- In RDA, the term “uniform title” has been replaced with the “preferred title for the work,” a core element defined in RDA as “the title or form of title chosen as the basis for the authorized access point representing that work.”
- General guidelines for choosing and recording preferred titles for works and points out the purposes for using authorized access points representing works and expressions:
  - a) Bringing together all descriptions of resources embodying a work when various expressions or manifestations of the work have appeared under various titles
  - b) Identifying a work when the title by which it is known differs from the title proper of the resource being described
  - c) Differentiating between two or more works with the same title
  - d) Organizing hierarchical displays of descriptions for resources embodying different expressions of a work
  - e) Referencing a related work or a related expression

Preferred Title =

Uniform titles

- The uniform title, which goes in the 240 field (or 130 field if it is the authorized access point), is now called the “preferred title.”
- There are several small changes to its use under RDA.
- When one work is published simultaneously in two languages, the preferred title is that of the first book received, not of the book published in the United States.
- This is in keeping with the international character of RDA.
